Main Display

(This queue management system facilitates the customers, as they don't have to stand and wait in a queue for their desired service. They may move about in the bank premises, can read the advertising brochures or can simply take a seat. It also increases the efficiency of the working staff as they can work without being intimidated by the queue of overlooking people awaiting service.)

This system consists of three main units :—

1. Main Display :- This is the key unit of the system on which token no's allotted to various customers appears against each counter no.
2. Counter Display :- This unit is placed on every counter or service window which displays the token no. allotted for that counter.
3. Token Printer :- This unit provides token no's to the customers, as customer has to press the button on it and gets the printed slip.
